University of North Florida College of Education and Human Services Building Tour

Please join us for the University of North Florida College of Education and Human Services Building Tour.

The COEHS Building follows several other projects as the next "green" building on campus, meaning it uses energy-saving measures, recycled materials and natural light to improve the work environment. This is the first LEED Gold certified building on UNF's campus. The project earned 39 points (39 needed for Gold) and all 7 pre-requisites. Strategies and Technologies Include:

- 23% more energy efficient than ASHRAE 90.1-2004
- HVAC systems and building envelope were designed to meet the requirements of ASHRAE 55-2004
- Exterior lighting power densities 20% below ASHRAE 90.1 requirements
- No potable water used for irrigation
- Reduced potable water use by 39%
- Interior lighting fixtures are controlled by a sensor
